Method 1: Quantitative research

Quantitative research methods are research methods dealing with numbers and anything that is measurable in a systematic way of investigation of phenomena and their relationships. Surveys and formal experiments (A/B tests) are examples of quantitative research tools. Quantitative user research methods seek to measure user behaviour in a way that can be quantified ...

A working hypothesis is a hypothesis that is provisionally accepted as a basis for further research in the hope that a tenable theory will be produced, even if the hypothesis ultimately fails. Like all hypotheses, a working hypothesis is constructed as a statement of expectations, which can be linked to deductive, exploratory research purpose in empirical investigation and is often used as a ...
